OLD TIMERS TAKE POSSESSION OF BRAINERD

OLD SETTLERS DAY BRINGS GLAD WELCOME TO PIONEERS

Mass Meeting in New Park Theatre Presided Over by Chairman Henry I. Cohen; Welcome by Mayor F. E. Little and Col. C. D. Johnson

Response by Justin M. Smith, of Bozeman, Mont.; Address by Mal Clark; Musical Selections; In Morning Tour of Range Country

Wednesday, July 5, was Old Settlers Day and the third day of Brainerd's 50th anniversary celebration and home coming week drew to the city some of the most prominent sons and daughters. They were given a royal reception and made to feel thoroughly at home.

The festivities started with the automobile tour of Brainerd, the lake and farming region east of the city and the Cuyuna iron range pilgrimage, all revealing most interesting scenes to the visitors. The tour was made according to schedule under direction of Carl Zapfe and without a single mishap.

The banquet for the old settlers of Brainerd was served at the First Baptist church dining room and at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. About 225 were seated at the First Baptist church and around 200 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The Chippewas who had dinner at the First Baptist church went on to the Chamber of Commerce where they partook of ice cream and cake. They then pleased the people assembled there by staging some of their war dances. After they ceased dancing, the ladies who had served the dinner took up the practicing of the Chippewa dances which they executed with remarkable facility.

Mass Meeting in Afternoon

Applause greeted the homecomers and old-timers when the curtain was raised at the New Park theatre on Wednesday afternoon to disclose many old-timers on the stage.

Henry I. Cohen, chairman of the committee on Old Settlers' affairs, who had most efficiently handled all the arrangements called upon Rev. E. A. Cooke of the Methodist Episcopal church to offer the invocation. Rev. Cooke expressed thanks for the indomitable courage which had characterized the pioneers—the men and women who turned the wilderness into a place of homes, assuring those of the future a larger life and a fuller happiness. He asked that folks of this day may be true to their obligations, carrying on the good work so nobly begun by their fathers.

Led by the Brainerd Municipal band the audience then joined in singing the first stanza of "America."

Mayor Little's Welcome

The chairman called upon Hon. Frank E. Little, mayor of Brainerd, to give the address of welcome to the home comers.

"In behalf of the citizens of Brainerd and as mayor of the city, I welcome you to our city," said the mayor. "Our first thoughts go to those old timers who made possible the Brainerd of today; those who built the log houses which have given place to a city of homes inhabited by 10,000 people. Brainerd is now known as a place of pines and mines and many lakes. We are all one in our endeavor to make you feel at home again that you may return to your places of abode saying 'Brainerd is the best place after all'."

Mrs. Mal Clark, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland, sang "Just a Song at Twilight." Mrs. Clark's fine voice was under unusually good control and the audience responded heartily at the conclusion of the song. Called forward again by the audience, Mrs. Clark sang, "Smiling Through." Voice and instrument blended beautifully in this piece.

In calling for the next number, Mr. Cohen said: "I now call upon a citizen whom everybody knows. And I have never heard a word against our fellow citizen Charlie Johnson."

Col. C. D. Johnson

After telling a characteristic story, Col. C. D. Johnson said:

"It is highly appropriate that on this day we should properly celebrate the founding of our city 50 years ago and its observance cannot be too impressive. And so with eulogy and orations, with banners floating in the breeze with music and song, we proudly commemorate the day and the men who started this city on the broad plane of life."

"The railroads and the rail board know how to proceed if they want peace. It is their move. We are ready to confer on any reasonable basis."

The Big Parade

Assembling the parade required the combined efforts of Chairman W. H. Cleary, Mrs. C. L. Burnett, Mrs. R. T. Campbell and other assistants. Led by the Brainerd Municipal band, the grand parade circled the park.

One can give but a glimpse of all who were in this grand gathering. At the head rode the Storm boy on a Shetland pony, and dressed as Uncle Sam. Following him came Marie Stadlbauer as Columbia, Katherine Stein as Liberty; James Flag Alderman as a sailor; Billy Smith and Ross Campbell as soldiers.

The clowns were Billy Stout, Billy McClenahan, Ralph Hallquist, William D. Hohman, John A. Hoffbauer Jr., Ralph Miles, Richard Douglas Hohman, David Nordin, Charles Nordin.

Rough Riders were Clifton Richards, Roger Richards, James Smith, David Weber, Donald Nelson, Robert Cox, Robert Hoorn.

Beverly Swanson's baby buggy was modelled on sedan lines.

Children's Float

This story is told of a tightwad who was prevailed upon one Sunday morn-only was he very busily reading the program of the service when the col-

the minister announced that the congregation would all join in singing three stanzas of Old Hundred the man arose from his seat and from force of habit asked the minister if he wouldn't make it the Ninety and Nine. His wife hasn't urged him to go to church with ORDINARY varnish would have been ruined. But, luckily, the floor was Valsparred.

Soaked for hours with puddles of hot water, it emerged absolutely undamaged—never a dull streak, never a splotch of white.
For Valspar is absolutely waterproof.

There are any number of places throughout the house that need just such a varnish—a varnish that is accident-proof, that will not mar or turn white under any conditions.

Fruit acids, greases and oils, hot, soapy water have no effect upon Valspar.

No matter what it is, from the drain-board in the kitchen to the front door—anything that's worth varnishing is worth Valsparing.

Easy to apply and dries hard over night.

FREE STATE REBELS

VOLUNTEERS WILL BE ACCEPTED

GENERAL CATHA BRUGH, REBEL LEADER, SHOT IN FINAL DRIVE WEDNESDAY

(By United Press)
Dublin, July 6.—Michael Collins, provisional head of the Irish Free State, issued a call to arms today to drive the rebels from their stronghold in provinces.

The government instructed the general headquarters of voluntary military organizations to place all their men on active service.

Volunteers will be accepted for a six months' enlistment period. With the Free State troops in supreme command in Dublin, following collapse of the rebellion here last night, loyal soldiers will now be marched to Donegal and Droghda where rebels are still holding forth.

General Cathal Brugha, rebel leader, who was shot when Free State troops made their final drive yesterday, was reported near death today.

Art O'Brien, former Irish "ambassador" to London, and O'Kelly, former envoy to Paris, captured by Free State troops, were released today.

OLD TIMERS TAKE POSSESSION OF THE CITY

those pioneer men, poor in everything but that courageous daring that prompted them to penetrate this wild and uninhabited wilderness and plant here the seed of civilization. If I may for a moment present the thoughts of another on an occasion similar to ours of today—while we enjoy the abounding present and indulge proud hopes for the future, yet, for this day we will, for the greater part, live in the past. We will ascend the stream of time and mingle our thoughts and our feelings with the rude life of the frontier; we will feel its wants and its deprivations, we will behold its solitude and savage environments; then following the new-born rivulet, as the beginning of some mountain stream we pursue its course, now amid verdant scenes, and then over rocks of danger and grief, till we emerge into these happier days of peace and prosperity. On this day, too, we may indulge the feeling of local pride on the achievements, which have been wrought upon the victorious, which crown our brows with an honorable measure of success. That feeble beginning has been productive of the happiest results. A great battle excites admiration and inspires songs of epic praise. But how much better for the happiness of mankind was the planting of a civilized community in a great wilderness, where justice, law, liberty and refinement might find a perpetual home. In its splendid consequence, the historical events we this day celebrate, is really worth more to the world than scores of great battles, which shine with lurid lights, on the pages of history.

"As we regard the men who 50 years ago were potent factors in the building of our city, we find the tomb has closed over many. There was Judge Sleeper, Judge Holland, Judge Conant, Wm. Ferris, Tom Bivins, Newt, McFadden, Capt. Spaulding, Wm. Paine, G. G. Hartley, Warren Leland, Thos. Cantwell, L. P. White, E. H. Bly, and other memorable men, who, tonight sleep beneath the sod of the valley. Their faces, their form, their looks are mirrored in my memory: I remember all of them.

"We lovingly recall their memories and summon their spirits to behold their joyous scene."

"Far from the maddening crowds ignoble strife Their sober wishes never learned to stray; Along the cool sequestered vale of life They kept the noiseless tenor of their way."

"Upon their graves we here and now scatter the flowers of sweet remembrance."

But there is still among us, those whose lives have been lengthened out, to behold this happy day. We have with us Anton Mahlum, Jim Gardner, Tim Brady, Ike White, typical old settlers still full of life and abounding in good cheer.

"As Water Scott says: 'Old age ne'er cools the Douglas blood'. They were pioneers with lives of romance and they could tell the story with tales that have the time of age.

"Ah! Let me not forget to mention the pioneer women that came with undaunted courage to this then uncultured spot. There was Aunt Jennie Bivins, there was Mrs. Sleeper, Mrs. L. P. White, the Madames Spaulding, Tennis, Jones, Pegz, Chapman, Old Mother Shupe and other splendid and noble women; that always stood at the bedside of the sick and dying. Yes, they were old fashioned mothers, not the women of today, with all their society manners, fine dresses, white jeweled hands that never felt the clasp of baby fingers, but they were dear old fashioned mothers with sweet voices, eyes into whose depths love light shone. And tonight in the midst of all our rejoicing let us say: "Blessed be the memory of those old fashioned mothers."

50 Years From Now

"It is my agreeable duty to welcome our old time residents to our celebration and our hospitality. Welcome! thrice welcome! Welcome! Welcome from all kindred cities! Welcome from all this great land! There are no strangers in Brainerd today. We are loyal citizens of Minnesota, Minnesota, one of the brightest stars in the constellation that makes these United States. I know from experience and observation that it matters not under what conditions you leave the home of your childhood days, there are times when the heart yearns for one more look upon the home from whence you came. Again we bid you welcome, trusting that the effect of the 18th Commandment will not mar your pleasure.

"Fifty years from now, I doubt not but what the people of Brainerd will celebrate its centennial anniversary. In all human probability most of those prominent in today's celebration will have joined the earlier pioneers of Brainerd, beyond the stars. But it is highly possible that some of the pupils in our schools of today will be present on that natal day; and they will surely recount with proud remembrance the proceedings of this day."

Justin M. Smith's Response

The chairman then called for a response on behalf of the visitors by Justin M. Smith who was characterized as a young man who used to live in Brainerd but now lives in Bozeman, Mont.

In responding Mr. Smith said that the occasion was one for felicitations, retrospection and contemplation. Felicitations because of the opportunity of gathering together, retrospection because the mind goes back to the old days and contemplation because one's thoughts go out to that future which stretches beyond the day.

The speaker told of arriving in Brainerd on the day when the golden spike was driven—arriving in the city with his mother and watching the ceremonies from the office of the J. J. Howe Lumber Co. He suggested that that occasion was not any greater than the one in which the home comers are taking part today. That he remembered the events of that day vividly, he affirmed, suggesting that one of the reasons for this clear knowledge of the doings of that distant occasion lay in the fact that they had been narrated to him again and again by his mother and others whom he had met in the intervening years. Then he was a boy, but now the speaker allowed that he is no longer a boy. "I am now a man, but in that past, I spent the happiest days of my life in Brainerd as a boy."

Suggesting that we think not so lightly of those past days as we grow older, the speaker said that in the still nights memory calls up the events of the distant past and peoples the stage with familiar presences. In that past I prided myself on knowing every man, woman and child in Brainerd. Everybody then knew me—some knew me too well. The speaker told of the extent of his residence in Brainerd to which he came in 1883, leaving in 1903.

Mr. Smith thinks that Brainerd may become quite a town and as recommendations leading to its future progress, he suggested that the city get rid of the old Y. M. C. A. building on the corner and build a $300,000 hotel.

Referring to some of the old time residents whom he knew in those earlier years he mentioned Barney McGivern, John Gabiou, John Kelly, Mrs. Forsythe, Miss Gillis, Mrs. Douglas and others as the associates of his boyhood. The speaker told of the time when the boys of the old town were the publicity experts and of how one of the old residents came to them to find out if anything had been seen or heard of the dog "Tasso." Said he, "Mrs. Douglas looks just as young as she ever did and 'Tim' Brady is as young as he was 25 years ago."

He told of Barney McGivern's criticism of the celebration, and of the two things needed to make it a real success, these being that a place of rendezvous be provided, "The Little Gem", Jim Dewer, and another "Kellehan & Frost."

"You can't have a town without men," he said, and to illustrate spoke of the time when Denny O'Leary first walked into his office in Bozeman and in the course of conversation said, "And are ye from Minnesota?" And then, "And do yer know Brainerd?" Being answered in the affirmative and informed that Mr. Smith had lived there, he said, "And did yer know Martin Toohy, Jerry Howe, Jim Dewer, Amil Goud, Cod Kimball, Dolph Hartley, Kellehan & Frost and Jack Burns?" "Yer did! That was a great town, they came to it from Wisconsin, Michigan, Maine and New York and other places and everyone of them was an Irishman. That was some town."

He told of Charlie Johnson applying the tanglefoot plaster to the man with a bad back and said that the plaster remained on the man's back from the 25th of December to the following April.

And then, in returning to the present occasion, Mr. Smith suggested that they would soon return home to their various vocations and would take up the common tasks which, after all, are the important things in life and demand one's best.

Violin Selection

The chairman then called for Miss Alice Roberta Johnstone who, accompanied by Miss Marion Opsahl, played on the violin with that exquisite touch which characterizes her playing. The piece was The Legend, by Wieniawski.

Mal Clark's Address

Mal Clark who spoke as a representative of the younger part of the city's inhabitants said words to this effect: The occasion is one in which memory is at work. We think of the builders and founders of Brainerd; of the advance guard of Brainerd's progress and success. We owe it to our fathers' and our children that this occasion be observed with grateful festivities. I am speaking in behalf of the newer and younger generation. Some of you are unknown to us and some of us are unfamiliar to you but we see in you the heroes in the drama of life which lies nearest to our hearts—Brainerd. And there is no finer place in all the world. The speaker mentioned the values that are built into the city and said that those of this generation are intent upon building something grand on the foundation laid by their fathers, so that the founders may be made to realize that they built something stronger and surer than they ever dreamed.

A. A. White

A picture of the late Hon. Lyman P. White was carried to the stage and placed facing the audience. Mr. Cohen spoke of him as "The Father of Brainerd," by which title Mr. White has the honor of being known. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. White, son of Lyman P. White and wife of Minneapolis were presented to the audience by the chairman.

Mr. White spoke of arriving in Brainerd in 1872 and he told some of the interesting facts of the earlier history of the city.

Double Quartet in Costume

The double quartet dressed in the costumes of days gone by sang old time songs and responded to a recall by the appreciative audience. The singers were Mesdames W. A. Erickson, Charles W. Hoffman, Mal Clark, R. E. Bemmels and Messrs. Roland

Jenkins, Al Mraz, S. F. Alderman and E. O. Webb.

Chippewa Indians Spoke

The chairman now introduced one of the Chippewa braves to the audience, Ben King, and John Warren of Walker, who served as interpreter. Mr. King said through Mr. Warren as interpreter that when he hunted through the woods around Brainerd 50 to 60 years ago he didn't think that he would ever see so many white men living in big houses and that he felt thankful to providence that he had lived the many years to see Brainerd as it is now.

After the Chippewas and the two squaws had marched across the stage before the audience, the double quartet led the assembled people in singing, "Auld Lang Syne", bringing to a close the gathering of Brainerd's citizens of the past who had come together at the request of Brainerd's citizens of today.

The following old settlers were on the platform: Mr. and Mrs. Anton Mahlum, Ike White, C. B. White, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Brady, Leslie Jack, Dick Ahrens, Mrs. Chapman, John Murphy, Joe Kiebler, Tom Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. White, Mrs. Rosser, E. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sanders, Mrs. Henry Spaulding, Mrs. T. J. Delemere, Mrs. H. A. Flint and Mrs. Geo. Forsythe.

WASHES AND DRIES WITHOUT A WRINGER

Use this electric washer in your kitchen

It is often very convenient to wash in the kitchen. It saves you many steps up and down stairs. If you have children it enables you to keep watch of them. And if you live in an apartment it makes you independent of the other tenants. Doing the washing in the kitchen is not a myth if you own a Laun-Dry-Ette, for you need no extra tubs.

The Laun-Dry-Ette does all the work—washing, rinsing, bluing, and drying for the line. The Laun-Dry-Ette has no wringer, and needs none. It whirled the clothes wringer-dry without a wringer.

Come in and see the Laun-Dry-Ette in action. See for yourself how easily it will accommodate itself to your kitchen.

Washes and Dries without a wringer

The Laun-Dry-Ette cannot break buttons or snap fasteners, because it has no wringer. And because it whirled the clothes dry, it enables you to do an entire washing without putting your hands in the water.

SENATOR Watson of Indiana exploded a 15-inch shell in the free trade camp the other day, when he fired his list of imported commodities at the Democrats. This is the third bombardment of the importers' sector. Chairman Fordney some months ago presented list showing the practical profits which the importers have been making on foreign goods, and a few days ago Senator McCumber submitted a list of 23 articles showing spreads of from 275 to 2,281 percent between the landed price of the goods and the price at which the importers sold them over their counters at retail. In one instance the spread on a lead bag recorded 14,900 percent.

The landed cost includes the duty paid according to the rates of the Underwood tariff law, now in force. The foreign cost to the importers of many of these articles would be well nigh unbelievable were it not for the fact that the invoices attest the facts. For example, a shotgun that costs 90 cents in American money in Germany, and so invoiced, is sold here for $15.00 at retail.

Of course, the important thing to be remembered is that the importers, who are conducting a vicious and costly propaganda against the tariff bill, have wickedly mulcted the public and persistently refused to give the purchasers any advantages by way of low duty rates. They can well afford to pay the duties contemplated in the pending tariff bill and still make huge profits, but they want the whole hog. The purchasers who are being importuned to sign petitions to Congress against the bill should be appraised to the profiteering of these importers who are stinging them to the limit.

WOMAN CITIZENSHIP.

THE bill to amend the law relating to the naturalization and citizenship of women has been passed by the house of representatives by an overwhelming majority and ought to be speedily enacted into law. Both the great parties have officially indorsed its principle, and there seems no valid reason for delay.

For several years the civil status of American women married to aliens has been a subject of grave concern, but it was not until this country became involved in war that the inequalities and unfair incidence of the existing law were fully realized. The concrete instances of hardship that then arose, some of them heart-rending and even tragic, forced the matter to the front. Subsequently the adoption of the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution by which nation-wide suffrage was conferred on women, still further demonstrated the need for a change.

The bill now under consideration makes citizenship largely independent of marriage. It provides that an American woman who marries an alien still retains her American citizenship, unless she expressly renounces it or lives for a certain number of years abroad, or unless her husband is himself not eligible to be a citizen. Similarly, an alien woman who marries an American citizen does not automatically become a citizen, but if she wishes to enjoy that privilege has to apply for it in the prescribed manner.

These and other provisions of the bill show that it is an honest attempt to give to woman all the rights and to place on her all the responsibilities which the importance of her new role in the body politic demands.

LATE SEASON ROAD PROGRAM.

THE late 1922 Minnesota trunk highway improvement program, just made public, includes nearly 125 miles of gravel surfacing and 100 miles of grading with minor projects, all estimated at about $1,440,000. Bids are to be opened July 10 on the first lot in a list of 29 projects.

Wide distribution of new work, that the greatest needs and maximum number of highway users may be served, is shown by the highway bulletin, the proposed betterments being located in many parts of the state. The bulletin also refers to a cut of nearly $1,500,000 in the Minnesota allotment of Federal aid, which forces delay of many pending projects. The state highway program is well up to schedule, nevertheless, and it is further pointed out that with each contract letting the waiting projects are nearer construction.

RADICALISM A FAILURE.

DOES radicalism ever get anybody anywhere? That is an interesting question of today. History plainly shows that it doesn't.

Look up the history of the movements patterned after the Bolsheviks and the I. W. W.'s and other "isms" that sought to do away with God and government and morality, and you will find that it does not show a single success. And it never will. Retaliation and revenge for real or fancied grievances may be human but they fail.

CANADIAN EXPORTS DROP.

MUCH interest is now being taken in Canadian foreign trade owing to the discussions in the Senate on the pending tariff bill. The Canadian foreign trade fell off sharply during the year ending May 31, but the United States was shown still to be her best customer, in a report issued by the government. Exports to the United States in the year ending May 31 were valued at $288,152,041, as compared with $525,198,321 the year previous. Imports from the United States were $503,776,863, as compared with $812,331,823 the year before. The United Kingdom, Canada's second best customer, bought $301,043,527 worth of export goods and sent in goods valued at $114,079,587.

AGAINST PRIMARY

(By United Press.)
Washington, July 6.—Predicting a nation-wide onslaught on the primary system of nominating candidates and a return to the old convention plan, Senator New, of Indiana, today declared that the Newberry case was a direct result of the primary system. He asserted the plan is a "conspicuous failure" and the breeder of political corruption and inefficiency in public service.

Anna Dickie Olesen on Primaries

Cloquet, Minn., July 6.—The drive against the primary system is a drive on the democratic government, Anna Dickie Olesen, first woman to be nominated for United States senator, said today.

"We have a government by the people, and we call it a democratic form of government," she said. "We need to become more democratic. The convention system is autocratic because it does not give all of the people an opportunity to express their desires."

"It was not the primary system that defeated Senator New in Indiana and Senator McCumber in North Dakota. It was their records in Washington, including their vote on the Newberry case."

"The Newberry case was not the fault of the primary system. It was not the primary system that made corruption, but the use of that system by the man involved. I do not see how anyone can say that the primary system is not a moral system. We are never forced to do illegal things. I believe the statement of Senator New implies that it was corruption in the primaries, but he voted to seat Senator Newberry. He did not vote to defeat the primary system nor to correct it, but to seat Newberry."

"It was a reactionary vote in the senate that defeated those senators—their own records—and they are trying to blame it on the primary system. The people demand progressive policies in Washington, and it was their means of expressing that desire when they voted as they did in the primaries."

(By United Press.)
St. Louis, July 6.—Three bandits today held up and robbed a messenger of the Tower Groves Bank of $18,000 in currency and $30,000 in negotiable checks and escaped.

The robbery occurred on a crowded street car. Patrolman Arthur Kunz who was guarding the messenger, Joseph Massop, was disarmed and held up with his own guns.

Snatching the satchel, the robbers leaped from the street car into a waiting automobile, and sped away.

Paris, July 6.—Attacks upon Premier Poincaré by communists in the chamber were renewed this afternoon, but the French chieftain gathered supporters with each verbal exchange. Poincaré is expected to receive a vote of confidence of at least 500 to 50 after the debate.

PURCHASERS GET NO ADVANTAGES.

SENATOR Watson of Indiana exploded a 15-inch shell in the free trade camp the other day, when he fired his list of imported commodities at the Democrats. This is the third bombardment of the importers' sector. Chairman Fordney some months ago presented list showing the practical profits which the importers have been making on foreign goods, and a few days ago Senator McCumber submitted a list of 23 articles showing spreads of from 275 to 2,281 percent between the landed price of the goods and the price at which the importers sold them over their counters at retail. In one instance the spread on a bead bag recorded 14,900 percent.

The landed cost includes the duty paid according to the rates of the Underwood tariff law, now in force. The foreign cost to the importers of many of these articles would be well nigh unbelievable were it not for the fact that the invoices attest the facts. Brainerd Won In a Walk July 4th. Defeating Pequot 9 to 2—Play Royalton Friday

The management of the Brainerd ball team wishes to inform the public about the team's failure to provide the game announced for Sunday.

The Twin Ports club was scheduled to play here July 2, 3 and 4, and Manager Begges called up Brainerd late Saturday night to say that they did not think they could come. After everything had been fully explained to him, he said that he would call up again in about an hour. Brainerd is still awaiting the call. The management of the local club then tried to get some other club to come here but were unable to do so in time for Sunday's game. However they secured Little Falls for a game on Monday, July 3rd, and a team from north of Brainerd for the Fourth, so that the public might not be disappointed altogether.

Brainerd 2, Little Falls 1.
In Monday's game Soderlund allowed only five scattered hits, and in one of the fastest games of the season Brainerd won 2 to 1. The game was well played by both teams. The locals gathered five hits off Sunderstrom and scored one earned run, resulting from a single followed by a triple by Soderlund in the third inning. This was the only earned run of the game.

One dose often helps commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves. Nuxated Iron is a newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach. It is so prepared that it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. MRS. MALLORY WINS IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

(By United Press)
Wimbledon, England, July 6.—In a drizzling rain which made footing insecure and good tennis almost impossible, Mrs. Mallory, American champion, worked her way into the semi-finals of the British national championship here yesterday. Mrs. Mallory defeated Miss Edington 6 2 and 6 4.

A Difference in Parents

A dear old lady I knew is in the habit of saying with a wise nod of the head, "Folks is awful different. Ain't no two alike."

She's right, and there's as much difference in mothers as there is in other varieties of folks. Now there is the mother I know who bought her four-year-old daughter a beautiful doll for a Christmas gift. She dressed it with care, set it on the mantel for an ornament and there it stayed, carefully set out of reach of the eager little hands of its supposed owner. More than once little Jean has been punished for insisting on having the doll in her hands.

Marjorie, across the street, got a doll too and already it is battered and frizzly haired. Marjorie makes its clothes, using patterns her mother cuts for her. She washes and irons its clothes and she plays school and church with it and puts on its gown and rocks it to sleep and all the while her little soul is growing toward its highest development—that of motherhood.

Then all fathers are not alike as maybe you've noticed.

Johnny Jones likes to read and he reads everything he can get. A week or so ago his father found him in the hayloft with a book quite unfit for any one to read. Well, Mr. Jones thought he was doing his full duty when he burnt the book and gave Johnny what he called a "whaling." Johnny is used to "whalings" so he didn't mind that so much, but he got in bad with Billy Brown because it was Billy's book that was burnt and Johnny muttered darkly about "getting even" with his father.

Sammy Simpson's father had pretty much the same problem but it was Sammy's book. Mr. Sampson gave Sammy the price of the book, plus a dime and inquired just why he wanted to read that particular sort of book. Then he talked quietly to Sammy for a while and told him that if there was anything Sammy wanted to know in that line he, his father, stood ready to help him out and tell him as honestly as he knew how.

A sight of difference in folks isn't there?—M. C. B.

Brainerd Won In a Walk July 4th. Defeating Pequot 9 to 2—Play

Royalton Friday

The management of the Brainerd ball team wishes to inform the public about the team's failure to provide the game announced for Sunday.

The Twin Ports club was scheduled to play here July 2, 3 and 4, and Manager Begges called up Brainerd late Saturday night to say that they did not think they could come. After everything had been fully explained to him, he said that he would call up again in about an hour. Brainerd is still awaiting the call. The management of the local club then tried to get some other club to come here but were unable to do so in time for Sunday's game. However they secured Little Falls for a game on Monday, July 3rd, and a team from north of Brainerd for the Fourth, so that the public might not be disappointed altogether.

Brainerd 2, Little Falls 1.

In Monday's game Soderlund allowed only five scattered hits, and in one of the fastest games of the season Brainerd won 2 to 1. The game was well played by both teams. The locals gathered five hits off Sunderstrom and scored one earned run, resulting from a single followed by a triple by Soderlund in the third inning. This was the only earned run of the game.

Gladys Walton
Gladys Walton in "Playing With Fire," one of the best and most enthralling features of the season, will be shown at the New Park theatre, Wednesday and Thursday. You will undoubtedly remember this stunning little star in the comedy drama "Short Skirts," which was shown at the Park theatre some time ago. This feature at that time was Miss Walton's best and latest success, but now she has surpassed all her former records, and made one of the most wonderful screen stories of the day, "Playing With Fire."
It is a Universal Super-Special.

"Man to Man" Has Appeal
Switching from the dives of Tivoli in the South Seas to the hot grazing lands of Arizona, the story of "Man To Man," at the New Park on Friday and Saturday has a wide range of appeal.
It is a Universal-Jewel feature starring Harry Carey, the actor who is "human" in Western roles.

Opposite him Lillian Rich attractively animates a figure in Jackson Gregory's story, a woman as charming as Miss Rich herself. Really wonderful is this heroine, human enough not to be capable of hearing a hundred lies about the hero without believing some of them, and yet sweet to him because she's in love with him and can't help it—the state in which a woman is most beautiful and lovable.

Dick Barthelmess at New Park
Richard Barthelmess brought back from the Virginia mountains, where he and his cast were engaged in the filming of his first starring vehicle, "Tollable David," which will be shown at the New Park Sunday only, a hat which he says he will always preserve.
"The hat was responsible for the company being almost wiped out by an infuriated mountaineer, who accused me of stealing it," explained the young star.

"It appears that a church dedication or church gathering down in that section of the country furnishes an excuse for a drunk on moonshine," he continued. "I learned that for weeks the mountaineers lay in a plentiful supply of moonshine which is to furnish the excitement for the church dedication. There had been such a gathering the night before the hat incident. It was some get-together, judging from the appearance of the participants the next morning.

"I had bought a hat which I understood had been quite the rage among the young swains of the mountains and it was reposing peacefully in an automobile when along came a young fellow still under the influence of the religious ardor of the night before. He saw the hat. He instantly claimed it.

"I've been wearing that hat to go courting my girl every Sunday for nine years," he shouted.

"Some of the company interfered and prevented him from taking the hat, knowing how hard we had worked to get such a head piece. The young fellow went down the road vowing he would get his kin to help him get that hat. The village blacksmith had taken the company under his wing and when the young fellow went there he received rough treatment."

"White and Unmarried" Fine
"White and Unmarried," Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture which is the feature at the Lyceum last time tonight, is a big photoplay. Mr. Meighan as Billy Kane, a reformed burglar, is seen in one of the finest roles he has essayed this season. Jacqueline Logan and Grace Darmond, both charming players head his supporting cast.

"Cheated Hearts" at Lyceum
"Either you're a wizard or I just came out of school yesterday!" That was Marjorie Daw's comment after the photographing of a certain scene of "Cheated Hearts," Herbert Lawton's latest starring vehicle, which comes at the Lyceum Friday only.

In this scene Rawlinson wears a beard and a haggard look, as though haunted by the ghosts of a thousand yesterdays—wandering through the gutters of Tangiers. A love scene with Miss Daw called for practice of the well-known art of kissing. But Miss Daw was bashful. To Hobart Henley, the director, she said: "I can't just imagine that four days' beard against my cheek. It looks like barbed wire!" And for that she got the long, sweet laugh, when Herb explained that he had done it himself with black grease paint applied with a rubber massage instrument.

Dorothy Dalton Coming
Dorothy Dalton will be seen at the Lyceum theatre next Saturday in her new Paramount picture, "Behind Masks." It is quite dramatic and thrilling. Fredrik Vogeding is her leading man.

Distinction Few Would Covet.
The distinction of being the only woman to be married in a blazing church probably belongs to a recent bride in England. When the bridal party arrived at the church they found the building ablaze and a small army of firemen deluging the flames with water. Nothing daunted, the prospective bride declared that, fire or no fire, she would not leave the church unwed, and to the accompaniment of flying sparks and clouds of smoke the marriage ceremony was performed.

Man Really Dependable.
People who are all float and not mentally dependable, who have no fixity of purpose, and are not reliable, are not the men we turn to in emergencies. It is the self-confident man, the man who feels sure of himself, the man who is sure of his philosophy and of his principles, the man of great faith, on whom we depend in supreme crises, when others are driven to the wall.—Exchange.

THE FLOATING CLINIC MAKES ITS FIRST VOYAGE

Miss Johanna Stevens having her foot treated by the physicians aboard the "Podiatrist," the first floating clinic in the world, which made its initial trip down the East River, New York City, and stopped at various piers on the way, to look after those dockworkers, boatmen and bathers who suffered from foot troubles. Miss Stevens injured her foot while in bathing, and was fortunate in having the floating clinic at hand to render needed first aid.

Cave Man Stuff

BACK near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.

The cavemen didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who would follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.

Then as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was best dressed, best fed and most contented.

There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousand years, but the principle is just the same. The consistent reader of the advertisements is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life. Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make live livable and pleasant. We owe it much.
